SPECIAL TO THE NEWS.

Paris, Tex., May 26—Corsicana's winning game today was pitched by Jack Bankhead, a Paris boy, who is a clerk in the City National Bank. Paris was shut out with only two hits, but the spectators did not mind, for four Paris boys—Coyle, Shelton, Thebaud and Bankhead—did a large part of the work. 30-GAME SERIES

On September 8, 1896, the Houston Buffaloes get three hits each from catcher Henry Cote and right fielder Pete Weckbecker and a complete game effort from Louis Balsz en route to beating the Galveston Sand Crabs 6-4 to take a 1-0 lead in a 30-game series to decide the Texas League champion ...

On May 26, 1904, amateur pitcher Jack Bankhead, a Corsicana bank teller "with no professional ambitions" shuts out the Paris Parasites 7-0, in the only game he will play in for the Oil Citys. Bankhead strikes out four, collects two of Corsicana's 10 hits (including a double) and scores a run. The 22-year-old Bankhead's complete game effort later proves significant as the Oil Citys capture the first half pennant by a one-game margin over Fort Worth.
